

VI INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES

«A Green university: it feels, grows and transforms for a sustainable development »

The Rector of the Agrarian University of Havana «Fructuoso Rodríguez Pérez» (UNAH) makes a call for the VI International Congress of Agricultural Sciences «AGROCIENCIAS 2026», to be held in the Convention Center of the Meliá Internacional Varadero Hotel, Cuba, from June 1 to 4, 2026, in hybrid format.

UNAH, with 50 years of foundation, is a referent for the agrarian sector in Cuba. The event, will gather professionals, promoters and people interested on Agricultural Sciences, Technical Sciences, Educational Sciences, Physical Culture Sciences, Economical and Social Sciences. It has the objective of sharing experiences from innovation, to foster and favor integration for the fulfillment of the Sustainable Development Objectives of the Agenda 2030 and the approach: One Health.

It will be an open dialogue among national and foreign academic professionals, researchers, producers and students, where in site and virtual modalities will be combined. The institution proposes a wide scientific program for the event that includes: lectures given by outstanding national and foreign personalities, workshops, presentations and posters. It will also take place a partner exhibition that will privilege a multidisciplinary approach for an inclusive university and a sustainable environment for the economic development of all nations.

The event will also favor making agreements and bringing up to date collaboration programs between universities, social institutions, companies and non-government associations for the establishment of projects, programs and international academic nets.

We appreciate your collaboration ahead of time to share this event's call with your contacts. We invite you to include this scientific event opportunity in your personal agenda and participate in AGROCIENCIAS 2026.
